December Trip Report

Cherokee Park

Seventeen Rigs showed up Sunday morning at the North King Sooper's parking lot and anticipation of finding some snow on this trip was high. After a brief driver's meeting and Cotton in the lead, we departed the parking lot to head for Cherokee Park Road (80C). After a brief stop at the turn off, we picked up two more rigs and we were up to nineteen 4x4's for the trip. Cotton continued to lead up Cherokee Park Road to the Air-down and potty stop. At this point our trip leader Tim Palmer took over and lead us up Cherokee Park Road to Pratt Creek (182). There was some snow on the mountain, but not enough to bash through just yet, instead there were a few stops to clear downed trees on the trail. A little before the end of Pratt Creek and our lunch stop, finally some drifts to power through and noticeably more snow in general. When we entered the clearing to park for lunch, there was enough snow to present a small challenge for some to get to the parking spots. Lunch was consumed and conversations were plentiful.

As we were packing up and getting ready to leave, Darrin F. (with assistance from Mike B.) powered back and forth until the final 4-5' drift was conquered, which allowed us to continue on to Boulder Ridge (87C) and towards Tie

Siding. It was not too long on Boulder Ridge when we discovered that someone had plowed it. Tim called for another driver's meeting and it was decided that we would split up into two groups. The first group was to continue on to Tie Siding to air up and head back, while the second group was to turn around and find more snow to bash through heading the other direction on Boulder Ridge. A small mishap erupted when a certain jeep (Bumble bee) was powering out of being sucked off the road by the right steer tire, the over correction to get out of the deep snow then launched the jeep across into a fender bender. Literally the left plastic fender was hanging, but only for a moment when it was forcibly removed and handed through the open driver's window...so the trek continued. Darrin lead the 2nd group back Boulder Ridge. As the rest continued to Tie Siding and home. Overall another great day 4 wheeling with our friends and family.
