Sleep in a Jeep

a book review by Garfield.

This classic literary work covers the average 4 wheelers first two loves, sheep and jeepin'. Author Nancy Shaw takes us through a day with a flock of five adventuresome sheep who decide to do some wheeling in their Jeep. The story begins in typical 4-wheeler fashion, the Jeep quits and the sheep have to get out and push. They also have problems in a mud bog and have to enlist the help of a couple of (complete with tattoos) pigs. The sheep even have an encounter with a big tree. The book is wonderfully illustrated by Margot Apple. This book is a must read. It is very easy to get involved in the story as it parallels so many of our clubs' trips. This book belongs in every 4 wheelers personal library, right between Chuck Wells guide books and your old copies of mad magazine. The book is available in three different forms, hard cover, soft cover and board book and can be purchased on line from <bn.com>. A new copy of this classic will be added to the club raffle at the next club meeting.

PS The sheep with the bell sure is cutest one of the flock.

HIGHWAY CLEANUP

Saturday, October 23rd

We wish to thank the Mountaineers that came out last month to pick up trash along Highway 14 in the Poudre Canyon. They were, Elaine Allbrandt, Craig Stumbough, Shar & Luke Manno, Jeff Mueller and Kyle & Christina Eddy. Craig brought a bunch of LaMars doughnuts while Luke supplied the orange juice. After exchanging pleasantries and stuffing our faces we split up to take on the day's task. We were a little short-handed so it took a little time longer than usual. Among the treasures found on this day was a nice pair of Rayban sunglasses that was found by Shar. Not to be left out, Luke found some pocket change, a penny and a dime. Elaine found the bottom half of a bikini and about a mile up the road Christina found the matching bikini top. We also found a small unopened bottle of booze.
